Governor Foote and the Fire-Eating

Governor Foote, of Mississippi, having in a re cent letter stated that he despaired of any restoration for the present of the ancient concord which once prevailed in the Democratic party of rupt and hireling press," the editor of the Vickswhether the Governor included his journal in that sweeping denunciation. To this the Governor patient of the Virginia Springs, in anticipation of scorching times during the reign of the replies that he referred to a numerous body of dog-star. urg Sentinel, Mr. D. Walker, writes to know editorial personages constituting a well-known class, and further says:

"That this class of pestilent and mercenary scribblers for the political press of the country has a veritable and widespread existence; that the members of this class are a numerous, well-paid, active, and influential corps, extending into every State in the Confederacy—ramified into almost every city, town, and village; that there is much ability of various kinds to be found in this army of corrupt stipendiaries, much industry, and the firentery, and but little conscientiousness, I shall not now stop to prove; that, as a class. much effrontery, and but little conscientiousness, I shall not now stop to prove; that, as a class, they have little or no regard to private worth or public virtue, or the true honor of the Republic, all discerning and pure-minded citizens stand ready to attest; that the members of this class are even now arrogantly claiming the right to exercise absolute and despotic control over public sentiment and our social and political institutions, and are openly aspiring to regulate even the Government itself, is one of the most alarming symptoms of growing depravity which the present times have afforded. There is no class more corrupt than this—none more dangerous—none, in rupt than this—none more dangerous—none, in my judgment, more utterly despicable. King Caucus himself, with all that hideous legion of dark-scheming votaries who grimly encircle his throne, unaided by the members of this murderous and Vandalic tribe, would be almost wholly invested.

In the following postscript to his letter, Gov ernor Foote indicates what shade of political opin-ion is represented by the class to which he refers:

"Perhaps in publishing the above correspondence it may be well enough to remind those who may peruse it that, in the State of Mississippi for the last three years, one noted paper published in Washington city, (the most profligate gazette that I ever knew,) and several others of the same type, printed in neighboring States, have positively had as much, and some of them, easy to be mentioned have even never more influence in dismentioned, have even now more influence in dis-ordering the Democratic party, and disturbing its ordering the Democratic party, and disturbing its concord, than any newspaper published in our midst. I have had to struggle against the most villainous calumnies upon the Compromise and its supporters, making their appearance in the papers referred to, ever since the autumn of 1850, and I am still constantly defending myself and my course against the most unprincipled assailment from the same quarters.

THE POLITE LANGUAGE. -Editors should speak the truth boldly, but always in becoming and dignified language; or he who uses offensive language in his paper should expect the same treatment that would ensue were he to address himself verbally to the person assailed. If the word lie does not mean fight, it is a vain word, and recoils upon him who uses it. Now here we have a paper before us in which the editor says of his neighbor

"We shall pay no more attention to his abuse than is absolutely necessary to show up the liar, reserving however, at all times, the right to expose his attempts to deceive the public on political and general points. The man that is nailed to the counter as a common liar cannot hurt us as an individual, and we can bask in perpetual felicity if we have no other obstacle to encounter. Not after stooping to the use of terms like this,

PARSON BROWNLOW, of the Knoxville (Tenn.) Whig, who is sick, says:

"Through the mercy of the Good Being and the attention of Dr. Baker, we shall come out of the 'contest' 'right side up' And when we get able to endure the fatigues of travel we must make our way to the Montvale Springs."

We hope the Parson's health may improve, that his faith in the Good Being and in Dr. Baker also may know no abatement, and that he may come out of all the contests of life and death "right side up." Amen.

The Madison (Indiana) Banner, of the 2d July, speaks of the drought there, and says that the hay and oat crops will not pay for cutting.

The Albany Argus says of the Champlin reso-

"They were introduced at the instance of John Van Buren, in whose handwriting they are, with a view, it is rumored, to effect at Washington in reference to some still unappropriated mission or

The Monrovia Herald says:

"The immigrants are getting on through the acclimating process finely. Numbers of them are settled at Millsburg, and most of them have drawn their lands. The Millsburg settlement, since the addition to its population by late arrivals of immigrants, extends up the St. Pauls nearly three miles, and farm lands in the neighborhood of Millsburg have recently been sold for four and five dollars per acre—which is an advance in price of the set of th dollars per acre-which is an advance in price of nearly one hundred per cent."

DEATH IN THE HARVEST FIELD .-- We learn that a valuable negro man in the employment of John K. Pumphrey, esq., died in his harvest field last week from the effects of heat and over-exertion. We have heard of several cases of severe illness from the same causes, but the above is the only one of fatal termination, so far as we have learned.

Many experienced farmers say they have never known such severe weather for harvesting. The heat has been remarkable. On Thursday afternoon last, at three o'clock, we saw a therappet of the state of the same of th mometer, hanging in a comparatively cool and protected position, which indicated 99½0.

> General Villamil, the hero of Ecuador, who is now representing that republic at Washington, arrived here last night, and is spending a few days with his friend Monsieur Cherbonnier, at his residence in Franklin Square. He will then proceed to New York, to be present by special invi-tation at the opening of the World's Fair.

In these days of political rest and quiet no on except journalists are likely to keep a note of the approach of election days in neighboring States. It may therefore be deemed a matter of interest to announce that elections will take place next month in the States of Kentucky, Missouri, Arkansas, Alabama, Texas, Tennessee, and North Carolina. In the two latter States the election will be held on Thursday, the 4th of August, and in the others on Monday, the 1st of August. In Kentucky and Arkansas members of Congress and of the State Legislature are to be chosen; in Missouri and North Carolina members of Congress; and in each of the States of Alabama, Texas, and Tennessee, a Governor, Legislature, and members of Congress are to be chosen. Party lines, except in Texas, are pretty strictly drawn, and in Kentucky, Missouri, and Tennessee the canvass is exceedingly animated. In the latter State Messrs. Henry and Johnson, the Whig and Democratic candidates for Governor, have taken the stump, and thoroughly canvassed every county. Lynn Boyd, late Speaker of the House of Representatives, is a candidate for re-election from the first district of Kentucky, but meets with bitter opposition from a part of his own party. The Susquehanna was going up to Nankin with the American Commissioner, when she got aground near Woosung, and going up to Nankin with the American Commis-sioner, when she got aground near Woosung, and finally returned. Pirates were busy on the coast, and had attacked several English vessels. At Canton every thing was quiet. Trade in imports was large at reduced prices. Tea dull. At Shanghai business was suspended. The steamer Mississippi was expected there on 27th of April.

Nankin was captured by the rebels on the 21st

From Liberia.—We have advices from Liberia to the 6th of April, twenty days later than our previous intelligence.

The insurgent marauding chief Boombo, of whose discomfiture and capture we had an account in a letter from President Roberts, by the previous arrival, had been tried and convicted on a charge of misdemeanor.

The sentence was: restitution, restoration, and reparation of goods stolen, people captured, and damages committed; to pay a fine of $50,000, and be imprisoned for two years.

The brig Zebra, from New Orleans, which put into Savannah last February, on account of a fearful mortality among her passengers and crew, after leaving the Mississippi, arrived at Monrovia on the 28th of March, in forty days from Savannah. There was no further sickness on board after the vessel left there, and her ninety-three emigrants reached the republic in good health.

LOCAL MATTERS.

PRESIDENT'S MOUNTED GUARD.—This new II itary corps is now fully organized, with Joseph Peck as captain, Clark Mills first heutenant. John Pettibone second lieutenant, John W. Ba-den third lieutenant, S. C. Busey M. D. surgeon, and George W. McLane orderly sergeant.

The uniform is similar to that of the United States cavalry, and of the finest materials. The "Guard" have engaged a room at Copp's aloon for their drill and armory, and next Thurs day evening will parade in fatigue dress. Forty members or more are already enrolled; fine military spirit animates them, and there is every prospect of the permanent establishment of a corps which will prove not only an honor to the city, but an arm of defence in the event of an occasion to face the foe NEEDLEWOMEN -Of late we have seen man articles in the newspapers relative to the imposi tions practised upon needlewomen in New York and elsewhere, by heartless slop-shop employers, and the miserable pittance which they receive for their labor; in some cases four or five cents only for making a shirt; the proceeds of the toil not yielding more than a dollar a week to the person thus situated, while others, by dint of perseverance, and at prices having a remote tendency to honesty, are enabled to make twice, or rarely thrice that amount of money. There seems to be no immediate remedy for this condition of things, owing, in part, to the superabundance of labor, and the great demand for cheap clothing, in the sale of which there is so much competition, not only for local consumption, but the supply of foreign markets.

As compared with New York prices, those giver in this city are large, although in some respect not as remunerative as they should be. But seldom, or never, do we hear of such cases of destitution and suffering in our midst as the records of northern cities present among that class of our TROTTING .- Some gentlemen hereabouts, having fast-trotting horses, sometimes take occasion to try their speed over the Columbia trotting course in Alexandria county, Virginia. Yesterday afternoon we learn that four horses, "who had never trotted for money," entered for a prize, which was won by a horse formerly the property of ex-President Fillmore. But the most exciting contest was between "Whalebone" and "Snaf fle" (the animals bring well matched as to speed) for a sett of harness. "Whalebone" won first heat, but "Snaffle" the last two.

AN EXTENSIVE SALE OF VALUABLE CITY LOTS will take place this evening, commencing at five o'clock; Boteler, auctioneer, at his room in Iron Hall, Pennsylvania avenue. It is seldom that so fine an opportunity is presented for profitable investments. The advertisement in another column furnishes the particular items of sale.

CENTRE MARKET .- Yesterday morning, chickens, juveniles, $2 75 a dozen; tomatoes fifty cents a peck; potatoes from thirty-one to thirty-seven cents for the same quantity; garden products, bearing some resemblance to ears of corn, and called by that name, twenty-five cents a dozen. Plenty of berries, of various kinds, and no scarcity of vegetable.

"Forewarned and Forearmed."-Several nights ago a thief, who had raised the window to enter a house occupied by two ladies, was frightened from his purpose by one of them boldly orlering him from the premises. Yesterday she resolved to provide herself with a pistol, to make ase of it in the event of a repetition of the visit.

JUVENILE DEPRAVITY .- John Bell, a negro boy, was yesterday fully committed by Justice Grubb for his appearance at court, to answer to the charge of having, on Tuesday evening, shot a white boy, named Robert Kaufman, of about the same age as himself—between eight and ten years. The latter, during the examination, said that the prisoner aimed the pistol at his face, which he missed; but the shot cut off two of his fingers. A man in the neighborhood heard the report, and afterwards saw the black boy running away from his victim with the pistol in his hand. This successfully contradicts the story of the transgressor, that the lad shot himself.

FRESCO.-Mr. E. Dreyer, of Baltimore, has just completed the frescoing of the Fifth Presbyterian Church, on the corner of Fifth and I streets, near Massachusetts avenue. The work is admirably executed, imparting an air of freshness beauty, and neatness, in the highest degree creditable to the artist.

CRIMINAL COURT .- Yesterday James Grandison, a free negro, was convicted of an assault and battery on a slave with a pitchfork, and was sent o jail for three months.

Some seventeen free darkies-men, women boys, and girls—were tried upon a charge of riot, out five only were convicted. Not sentenced.

Elias Semmes, a free negro, was put on his trial for assaulting with intent to kill Patrick Drew, and after the examination of one witness the court diourned.

Bernard Hooe, esq., charged with an assault and battery upon another clerk, named Magill, submitted his case to the court, and was fined $8.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE .- A. Green yesterday sold the west half parts of lots No. 37, 38, 39, and 40, containing 9,600 square feet of ground, to Captain L. M. Powell, at sixty-two cents per square foot. These lots are situated on the alley in the rear of Jackson Hall, and belonged to the estate of the late Mordecai Foy.

try may think proper to deposit in aid of the great Monument now in course of erection in this city to his memory.

They feel assured that when this noble and patriotic purpose is presented to the people they will not hesitate to give their mite for such an object; and it now becomes more necessary, as the funds of the society are rapidly diminishing and may not soon be adequate to carry on the work. A small contribution from each citizen or voter throughout the United States would be sufficient to complete the Monument—a work intended to add to their glory as well as to honor the memory of the illustrious dead. A half-dime is but an inconsiderable sum, and yet a half-dime contributed by every inhabitant of our country would rear the grand structure, now in progress, to its destined completion. It will be pitiful, wondrous pitiful, if out of twenty-five millions of souls who inhabit this great country, rendered independent, prosperous, and happy mainly by his exertions and devotion to its cause, the sum necessary to erect a Monument worthy of such a man could not be completed for the want of the small pecuniary aid which every American should feel it his pride as well as his duty to afford.

At the last Presidential election the plan of obtaining contributions at the polls (thus testing the patriotism and liberality of the voters and others) was attempted, though the previous arrangements were not such as to insure a very full collection, the result was as satisfactory as could, under the circumstances, have been expected.

It is therefore desirable that this system should
